

Flood Lights

Regarding the installation of exterior flood lights, the technician will need to know if there is attic access, as they would need crawl space access to the corner where the light is to be installed; there must be a way to install the wiring through the space using what is called a wiggle worm.